

Publications

October 09, 2013

IPO? What You Need to Know: The Kickoff Planning Meeting

Founders and executives of mature private companies often underestimate the complexity and lead time of the initial public offering process. The right timing is crucial for a successful IPO so it is critical to be ready to go when the company's results and capital market windows align. To read the full blog click here.

Authors