

Jay Clayton Sheds Light On His Enforcement Philosophy

In a recent speech to the Economic Club of New York, U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Jay Clayton provided his perspective and the principles that will guide him in his chairmanship.[1] While Clayton addressed a number of topics, including capital formation and market structure, his comments offer a window into his views on the role of the enforcement division, his enforcement philosophy, and what we can expect to see in terms of enforcement priorities. Read the full article published by Law360*.

*Subscription based publication.