SEATTLE (June 20, 2023)—Perkins Coie is pleased to announce that it has been named as the "Environment Law Firm of the Year" at the annual Chambers USA Awards for 2023.

Chambers highlighted the success of the firm's Environment & Natural Resources practice, which clients described as "among the very best in the business." Our lawyers counsel clients across a full range of transactional, regulatory, and litigation issues. Chambers recognized 36 of our environment, energy, and natural resource lawyers among the leading practitioners in various substantive categories and jurisdictions throughout the country.

One client told Chambers, "They seem to have an expert on every topic ready to provide guidance," and another noted, "What really stands out about Perkins Coie is how deep its bench of expertise is."

"We are thrilled to be recognized by Chambers USA as the Environment Law Firm of the Year," said Karen McGaffey, chair of Perkins Coie's Environment & Natural Resources practice. "Our clients are doing extraordinary things, and we are honored that they trust us to help them achieve their objectives in a rapidly changing world and challenging regulatory environment."

The Chambers awards recognize a law firm's preeminence in key practices and jurisdictions and reflect achievements over the past year, including outstanding work, impressive strategic growth, and excellence in client service.
