

Partner Lynne Graybeal Named One of America's 2024 Top 200 Lawyers by Forbes

SEATTLE (April 22, 2024)—Perkins Coie is pleased to announce that Intellectual Property partner Lynne Graybeal has been named to Forbes' inaugural America's Top 200 Lawyers list for 2024. Lynne serves as chair of the firm's Arts & Entertainment group.

Based in the firm's Seattle office, Lynne is a partner in the Trademark, Copyright, Internet & Advertising practice, with more than three decades of experience in trademark and copyright protection, internet and social media issues, licensing, and arts and entertainment law. Lynne's clients span various industries, including food and beverage, software, telecommunications, and arts and entertainment. Her industry experience is complemented by her longtime involvement in the International Trademark Association and past and current leadership positions in several arts organizations.

The Forbes America's Top 200 Lawyers list highlights lawyers from a variety of backgrounds and practices who have made an impact in their fields. The selected lawyers were recognized for their achievements within their fields, among their peers, and in their communities. The selection process included nominations, editorial research, and evaluation and considered professional backgrounds, track records, and feedback from legal professionals and clients.

The internationally recognized Intellectual Property practice at Perkins Coie consists of more than 275 lawyers and agents in the United States and Asia who provide innovative counsel at every stage of IP protection and development.

Perkins Coie is a leading international law firm that is known for providing high-value, strategic solutions and extraordinary client service on matters vital to our clients' success.
