

Articles

September 07, 2023

NEPA Permitting Process Crucial to Renewable Infrastructure Project Success

Ted Boling and Kerensa Gimre wrote an article for the Center for American Progress on how the National Environment Policy Act (NEPA) process of environmental review is crucial to the success of infrastructure projects.

It details five clean energy infrastructure examples that span a range of recent projects nationwide and demonstrate best practices for improving infrastructure projects.

Read full article in the Center for American Progress

Authors

Explore more in

Environment, Energy & Resources Infrastructure Development