

Packaging and Labeling Post Descheduling: A Conversation with Doug Fischer

It is well known that the varying state regulations for cannabis give this industry a complex legal landscape. Nowhere is that more apparent than in the state regulations related to cannabis packaging and labeling. Perkins Coie senior counsel Andrew Kline is joined by Doug Fischer, General Counsel of Greenlane, the leading global platform for the development and distribution of premium cannabis accessories and lifestyle products. Throughout the podcast, Doug shares his thoughts on how descheduling could impact the cannabis industry. Doug and Andrew also touch on delta-8 and the medical community's involvement in the industry.
