

Blogs

February 23, 2021

Asset Management ADVocate

Institutional Investment in Crypto Derivatives: Bitcoin Futures and Similar Products – Episode 4

In Episode 4 of our Podcast Series, Todd Zerega and Andrew Cross discuss the use of derivatives on cryptocurrencies by institutional investors. Specific attention is given to regulatory and product development considerations for registered investment advisors and fund sponsors, as well as technical considerations related to exchange-traded futures on bitcoin and other similar listed products. As a supplement to the podcast, please see our recent blog post about the CFTC's publication of weekly data about the volume of bitcoin futures trading and types of market participants that are entering into these trades.

Explore more in

Investment Management

Blog series

Asset Management ADVocate

The Asset Management ADVocate provides unique analysis and insight into legal developments affecting asset managers in the United States.

View the blog