PMP @ TechCrunch Disrupt 2022

Colin Fowler and guest host AI Araiza traverse the floor at TechCrunch Disrupt 2022 in search of creativity.

Your guided tour begins here:

1:25 – Neubility innovates the delivery industry with self-driving delivery robots, redefining how items are transported within cities.

7:15 – Simply-Bread provides microbakers with the products and services they need to be successful entrepreneurs while nourishing their communities.

14:56 – Eliza Dolls teaches young girls how to code and build hardware through custom, tech-enabled projects based on the things girls love.

20:35 – Munevo is a proportional head control for electric wheelchairs. Based on Smartglasses, Munevo helps people with disabilities achieve more independent mobility and self-determination.

28:45 – Neurode is developing a non-invasive wearable device to improve cognitive performance for people with neurological conditions such as ADHD.

35:34 – PregnanTech aims to revolutionize obstetrics and newborn pediatric medicine by reducing the rate of preterm birth worldwide.

41:41 – ECM's use of an interconnected, multi-layered printed circuit board as the stator fundamentally changes the way electric motors/generators are designed and manufactured.

51:18 – 4Earth builds robotic water treatment tech in a box for factories, manufacturing companies, and the oil and gas industry.

1:01:33 – Woosh is a smart air filter that automatically monitors the air quality in real time and transmits the data, via Wi-Fi, to a mobile app.
