

Blogs

August 06, 2021

Wage & Hour Developments

What to Expect When You're Expecting Change in D.C.

Will the Biden administration be Obama 2.0 for employers, or could we see a more progressive agenda? How will Biden's Labor Department address gig economy employers who classify workers as independent contractors? What workplace safety protections can we expect now that employees are coming back to work? How will employers experience the changes on the front lines as the DOL seeks to dramatically expand its investigatory resources? Join Perkins Coie Senior Counsel Christopher Wilkinson for a discussion of what it takes to get things done in D.C., based on experience gained as an associate solicitor in the Labor Department during the Obama administration. Listen to "What to Expect When You're Expecting Change in D.C." on Spreaker.

Explore more in

Labor & Employment

Blog series

Wage & Hour Developments

The regulatory landscape, appetite for administrative agency enforcement, and judicial interpretations related to wage-and-hour issues are rapidly evolving. Our blog is a one-stop resource for federal- and state-level updates and analysis on wage-and-hour-related developments affecting employers.

View the blog