

Blogs

August 22, 2023

Effective January 1, 2024, California's minimum wage will increase to $16.00 per hour for all employers, regardless of size. Under California's Labor Code, by August 1 of each year, the director of finance will determine if the minimum wage must be adjusted for inflation and, if so, calculate the increase in minimum wage by the lesser of 3.5 percent.

As a result, on July 31, 2023, California Department of Finance Director Joe Stephenshaw officially certified that "minimum wage shall increase by 3.5 percent to $16.00 per hour" for all employers (from $15.50 per hour).

The increase in the minimum wage rate also impacts the minimum salary amounts for full-time exempt employees. Beginning January 1, 2024, the minimum salary for a full-time exempt employee will be $66,560 per year.

Even though California's minimum wage increased across the board, California employers should be mindful of the various cities and counties that have adopted their own, higher minimum wage rates. Employers with questions about the applicable rates should contact experienced counsel with questions.

Authors

Jill L. Ripke

Senior Counsel

JRipke@perkinscoie.com 310.788.3260

Explore more in Labor & Employment

Blog series

Wage & Hour Developments

The regulatory landscape, appetite for administrative agency enforcement, and judicial interpretations related to wage-and-hour issues are rapidly evolving. Our blog is a one-stop resource for federal- and state-level updates and analysis on wage-and-hour-related developments affecting employers. Subscribe ?

View the blog