

Podcasts

The New York City Department of Consumer and Worker Protection (DCWP) adopted final rules for Local Law 144. This landmark law prohibits employers from using automated employment decision tools (AEDTs) to evaluate job candidates or employees when making employment decisions, unless certain bias audit and notice requirements are met. Enforcement of the law will begin on July 5, 2023. Listen to learn more about the final rules, who is covered by the law, which technology is implicated in the law, the law's notice and bias audit requirements, and steps employers should take to comply.

Listen to "New York City Adopts Final Rules for Law Governing Automated Employment Decision Tools | Perkins Coie" on Spreaker.

Find us where you get your podcasts

Contributors

April A. Goff

Partner

AGoff@perkinscoie.com 214.259.4954

Chris Katsimagles

Counsel

CKatsimagles@perkinscoie.com 212.261.6838

Explore more in

Labor & Employment