

Should Your Law Firm Have a Theme Song?

Shortly after I joined Perkins Coie, my wife came up with a cute little number that she sings to me called "Perkins Coie Nights." It's more "Nights on Broadway," (sung by the Bee Gees), than "Boogie Nights" (sung by Heatwave). My wife has a fabulous voice. Me? Not so much. Anyway, that got me to thinking – does your law firm have a theme song? And if not, how does one go about coming up with one? After a little bit of online research, I found these guidelines from Odyssey to be appealing:

1. Keep it simple
2. Keep it short
3. Make sure it is unique
4. Set the stage
5. Make it catchy

Explore more in

Corporate Law

Blog series

Public Chatter

Public Chatter provides practical guidance—and the latest developments—to those grappling with public company securities law and corporate governance issues, through content developed from an in-house perspective.

Subscribe ?

Visit Public Chatter Resources for Guides, Quick Alerts and Programs

View the blog