

Blogs

March 09, 2022

Public Chatter

SEC Proposing New Cybersecurity (& Climate) Rules Imminently!

With the proxy season in full swing for those with a 12/31 fiscal year-end, it's not an ideal time to stay abreast of impactful new rule proposals. But the SEC continues full steam ahead with new rulemaking, starting with new cybersecurity disclosure rules being proposed today. On top of that comes the news - ahem, rumors - as reported by this Reuters article that the SEC may propose new climate rules as early as next Wednesday, March 16th...

Explore more in

Corporate Law

Blog series

Public Chatter

Public Chatter provides practical guidance—and the latest developments—to those grappling with public company securities law and corporate governance issues, through content developed from an in-house perspective.

View the blog