

Events

October 05, 2020

Algorithmic Bias and Data Visualization

Machine learning has enabled significant advancements in AI, but it is not possible to train machine learning models without vast amounts of high-quality data. Bias in a training data set—whether inherent in the data or introduced into the training data set—will result in a machine learning model that reflects that bias.

This webinar explores the risks of inadvertent algorithmic bias and strategies for addressing legal issues surrounding the use of data to train machines.

WATCH THE WEBINAR

PRESENTATION

Authors

Explore more in

Technology Transactions & Privacy Law