Regulatory Enforcement and Litigation: The Contagion Effect of FTX and Silicon Valley Bank

The webinar examined recent events, beginning with the Terraform Labs cryptocurrency collapse and continuing to the downfall of various entities, including FTX Trading Ltd. and Silicon Valley Bank. Our panel of experts addressed key legal and regulatory issues relating to these events.

During the webinar, attendees gained insights into the following topics:

- Recent regulatory issues facing the cryptocurrency industry, including issues related to stablecoins and staking.
- The risks that individuals and companies in this industry face from regulators, prosecutors, and private litigants.
- Risk management best practices for fintech companies and industry participants.

Our panel also provided practical tips for attendees to prepare for and respond to similar situations, including guidance on risk management, regulatory compliance, and crisis communications.

This webinar is tailored to fintech and financial professionals, including bank directors, traders, compliance officers, and legal counsel, who are interested in understanding the latest developments in regulatory enforcement and litigation and their potential impact on the financial industry.
